I have to admit I'm not sure what the introduction should be. Hmm, could you please help me with this? -Taylor Mulligan-Miller

Sure, do you want me to write it for you? You can always edit it after. I don't know how much time I will have but let's make the introduction about something else while we work on this problem. The video below features a documentary by Gordon Quinn about how people were coming together in Chicago in response to an alarming amount of violence that was occurring among teenagers. The film speaks volumes on the need for urban communities across America to encourage community policing and responsible gun ownership practices, while also reminding society that these are our children too. With tears, laughter, and a few cute smiles, the documentary includes interviews with the police officers, community activists and even the young men participating in the program. -Alexandra Schmitt

I like it! Are you sure I cannot help with something else? Oh no, that is okay. I want to do this on my own. You can always edit it later though. Thanks again for your help! I really appreciate it. -Taylor Mulligan-Miller

Not a problem, but you shouldn't worry about it too much. It shouldn't be that hard to learn. If you're having too much trouble we can take it out and save that one for later. I don't want you to feel like you're not doing a good job because that's not true at all:) It looks great! I added the video link here for reference. -Alexandra Schmitt

Thanks Alexandra! Once again I really appreciate your help with all of this! I'm going to go ahead and start working on this part right now so hopefully I'll have it done by tomorrow morning. -Taylor Mulligan-Miller

Good luck! -Alexandra Schmitt

Oh boy, there's a lot of information here. When you get a chance, can you please go ahead and look up all that information and add it to the wiki? I think that will help us a lot. Oh! And can you type out this introduction for me? I really want to see what you come up with because this stuff is really hard for me to put words to:) Thanks so much! What do you mean by "add" things?! I thought we were just going to write it ourselves? Oh well, if that's the way you want it then cool. I guess I don't really care. If you want to do something like Wikipedia, where one person writes the whole article than so be it. But please read my comments! I really think we need more enthusiasm. Your writing is kind of boring compared to what the rest of this Wiki is about. -Alexandra Schmitt

Oh no, that's not at all what I mean! What I mean by adding is just adding little pieces of information here and there that you can find all around the wiki or just on Google for example.
